In the Kingdom of the great king Slug live the happiest animals in the world. Everything is mixed-up there. No one has the right to grow up and everybody laughs when someone dies and cries when someone is born. However, there is a severe discipline. Everybody is shivering with fear not to make angry the great king who actually no one has ever seen. In this kingdom arrives a little mule. He becomes friend with the inhabitants of the kingdom and they send him to see the Big Snake. She is the keeper of the kingdom, because she is the only one who knows the truth about it. The Snake tells the Mule that his mother was a mare and his father was a donkey and that is why he is special and was born to provoke a riot and to become famous. In response, the Snake bites him lethally. Before his death, he tells everything to his friends and one of them - the Little Donkey - decides to help him. He sucks the Mule's poisoned blood and dies to let him fulfill his mission. The Mule succeeds to unite the animals and together they drive the hated king away. The kingdom is liberated from fear. However, a new problem appears: they should elect a new leader and once again, everything mixes-up.
